WELCOME TO HORIZON STUDENT HOUSING.

These contemporary housing facilities have been designed with you in mind. Situated in the same building as the Touro College of Osteopathic Medicine, they enable you to enjoy a centralized learning and living arrangement that benefits your ultimate goal of excelling as a medical professional.

Broaden your academic horizons.

By choosing residential life at The Horton Complex, you'll be maximizing your time and energy in the study of medicine. Your private living quarters will be just paces away from school facilities, which will serve to enrich your academic and clinical experiences. Studies show that students living on campus receive higher grade point averages (GPA) than their off-campus counterparts.

Broaden your social horizons.

As uniquely individual as you are, school is better with company. Residential life delivers a number of perks in that area, as living in proximity of like-minded students and professionals-to-be helps foster a supportive environment that adds to your personal and social growth. On your medical journey, make friends fast.

Broaden your comfort horizons.

Forget trekking through heat, cold, wild weather, or rush hour. Forget sharing a cramped room somewhere across town. Instead, enjoy bright spaces, comfortable beds, spacious lounges and cafeterias, flat screen TVs, Wi-Fi, and so much more. This is how you reward your hard work on a daily basis.

Facilities, a study in cleanliness.

The beautiful student housing at The Horton Complex is among the nicest available at any school in the country. Students, staff and faculty alike were blown away to discover that facilities like ours were available. We are confident that you will be blown away too.

Exactly what the doctor ordered.

As you know, medical school is extremely stressful. That's why we've exerted every effort to promote a relaxing, fun, and invigorating environment. Every room is complete with its own flat-panel TV, the central grab-and-go and drink bar is open until 10:00 PM, vending machines are accessible 24/7, and we host engaging and entertaining monthly activities to enhance the quality of student life. Your residence at the Horton Complex will be your personal getaway.

Take the game to the common room.

Sports night? You bet! Air out with your friends and fellows, watch TV together on the large flat screens in the lounges and common room, and share snacks all around. You get the picture: Residential life forms a support circle around you that makes medical school feel just like home.

Reclaim your quiet time, anytime.

When you want your privacy, you can easily shut out the entire world. Close the door, and study, read, write and browse the web at your private desk and chair. To show respect for your private living quarters, housekeeping cleans hallways, kitchenettes, lounges and carpets, but generally stays out of your private room without your express request.

Enjoy free onsite parking and security.

Study, play and sleep at ease knowing that the premises feature 24/7 security/receptionist. Secure onsite parking is also included at no extra charge – as well as electricity, HVAC, cable TV, Wi-Fi, kitchen necessities, and mail-holding services. Best of all, each room sports its own climate controls for both heating and air conditioning. Now you're in control of how cozy or comfortable you want to be.

Pack light. Or bring 7 of everything.

Horizon Student Housing offers every necessity and comfort you can desire. With beautifully furnished rooms and private bathrooms, all that's left for you to bring are your toothbrush and pillows. At the same time, we are happy to accommodate your personal preferences, and encourage you to bring along anything you need.

Testimonials

“Choosing to reside at The Horton Complex was one of the best decisions I made as a first-year student. Transitioning into medical school can be difficult given its academic demand and stress. Knowing that class was just a few floors down enabled me to always be on time for class – regardless of weather or other unforeseen events that can happen when commuting. Another positive aspect of living here is the sense of family I get from the other students; after a long, hard day of work, it's nice to have encouraging people you can relax with and talk to at a moment's notice.

- Anthony Duncan

“I chose to live on campus for my first year at Touro because of the convenience! The place is always spotless; having my own room is great; I'm comfortable riding the elevator in my creaks; I love being able to just walk downstairs to the library if I want; and the 24-hour reception and security provide an added sense of comfort. It also gives me a great opportunity to meet my new classmates, which is something I wouldn't have if I were living off campus. I'm really happy I decided to live at The Horton Complex!

- Emily Emmet

“The convenience factor has been a major incentive for me to live in the dorms. I love being able to stroll down a few floors from my room to class, especially on the days when there's six inches of snow outside. The management and workers are very friendly and responsive and are always here for me when needed. I've also enjoyed the camaraderie of my fellow dorm residents—it's great to be able to just walk down the hall for a chat and a study break.

- Alice Jiang

“The student housing here is super convenient. I no longer have to commute to classes, which is especially great in the freezing winters. I also like how the school is situated in a place that is close to everything I need such as grocery stores, post office, etc. The management is always there for me, and the facility staff is very friendly. I also really enjoy the monthly activities and entertainment that ease the stress of medical school.
